COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORKESPONDENCE The festival in company H armory for the benefit of the E. E. Lutheran church, was closed on Saturday evening after a run of three nights, but was not as successful as anticipated, the very inclement weather prevailing doing much to cut down the attendance. The armory was very handsomely but not extensively decorated and everything in connection with the festival was temptingly arranged. The church people will clear, by their venture, no less than sevenay-five dollars where double that sum was anticipated and would probably have been forthcoming with good weather. Eleven boats in the Susquehanna canal loaded with coal and consigned to parties in Baltimore, Havre de Grace, Delaware city and other places, which have been ice bound here for about a week will be taken into the basin just this side of the locks, and will be delivered to H. F. Bruner, who will unload them immediately. The boats belong to the Pennsylvania canal company.

Rev. J. W. Deshong, former pastor of the Church of God of this place, who has been elected to a church at Altoona, Pa., received a letter this morning from members of the Altoona church, insuring him a hearty welcome to his new charge with a very fair salary. Mr. Deshong expects to assume the helm of affairs about April 1, Squire Evans returned on Saturday from his visit to West Chester, Pa.

Yesterday was one of the most disagree able days that Columbia has seen in a long time. The pavements from morning until night and even to this morning were covered with a coat of sleet that made walking hazardous and even dangerous, and as a consequence many people walked in the middle of the street in preference to risking life and limb by keeping to the sidewalks. The congregations of the different churches were slim. At the Presbyterian church, when the evening services were over, a couple of ladies of the congregation fell before making a dozen steps from the church doors, and it is said one of them was severely injured. Coal ashes, saw dust, sand, etc., have been sprinkled on a good many of the pavements and the walking is now much better than it has been, although in some places it is yet very bad. Large Ear of Corn. A large ear of yellow corn, which was raised by William Watson, on the farm of James Maxwell, in Drumore township, has been left at our office. It is 13} inches long, and has 24 rows with 1,359 grains. Went to Gettysburg. Prof. Wm. B. Hall left this city this mornTHREE YEARS' RECTORSHIP.

Rev. Dr. Knight, of St. James. Yesterday, first Sunday in Advent, was the third anniversary of the rectorship of Rev. Dr. Knight at St. James church, this appropriate to the event of which the occasion was the commemoration. The rector recalled with satisfaction the alterations in the church building, notably those which relieved the deficiences pointed out in these words: "When I came the deep and awkward and inconvenient side galleries remained, interfering with light and sound and free air, and almost wholly unoccupied. The vestry was in a ruinous condition, with a rent through which one could see the stars, stretching between it and the main body of the church. In the western gallery stood an organ which had seemingly far outlived its usefulness (though thanks to the thoughtful generosity of a parishoner and to the efforts of our brethren at St. Johh's it has now renewed its youth and does good service at that church), while the west front rose in unredeemed and irredeemable ugliness." The expense of the alterations rendered necessary by these deficiencies was referred to and the hope expressed that the Easter season would extinguish all remaining debt. The gifts of the parish for religious purposes during the last three years amount to a little more than $24,000.

This includes a little less than one-third the cost of the new organ. Referring to the changes in the manner of celebrating divine service Dr. Knight said: "It is very desirable for many reasons that the congregation should join heartily in singing the hymns and canti-cles, and I think you will bear me witness that three years ago, singing, excepting in the choir gallery, was a thing almost unknown here. There was almost no singing, as there was little audible response on the part of the people, and I called your attention to this at once on coming here. New experience has always proved that put the organ and leaders of the singing before the people is a great help in drawing them to take their share in this part of the worship. And so it has been here. Our hymns are now rendered for the most part both by choir and people heartily and with spirit. The choir having their place in the chancel, it was seemly and fitting that they should come in and withdraw in an orderly way, that is to say, in procession, and that they should wear a uniform dress, thus covering up anything in their garb an artist in it way, and the formidable list of thought of the worshipers. And as there is a garb which has been worn from the earliest ages by the leaders of devotion in the Christian church (which in early securing their seats. indeed had before been worn for many centuries through command of God himself by the Levites in the Jewish church), which has been worn from time | lecture to young men only in the hall of the immemorial in all cathedral and collegiate Young Men's Christian Association. As for their being copied from the Church of Rome or indicating any tendencies in that direction, I am sure the suggestion of such ignorance the printers did a good work in bungling or thoughtlessness is best met and answered by a good-natured smile. If any of you, my people, shall join the Church of Rome, which I do not at all fear, it will not be in consequence of the ordering of our service or for want of teaching from your pastor. The practice of surplicing the choir, Dr. Knight said, is rapidly growing in favor. He had also availed himself of the right, affirmed by the general convention, of saying the three offices of Morning Prayer, Litany and Holy Communion separately. He was glad to know that whatever changes had been made under his rectorship were made without alienating one single person, old or young, high or low, in ing held not far from his residence. On the parish; and so far as he can learn not one person desires to go back to the former usages. He regretted that so few availed themselves of the high privileges offered by the establishment of the weekly and holy day celebration of the Eucharist:

The general improvement in business the past year, with the prospect of a very large increased demand for all kinds of Dress Goods, induced all American buyers of Foreign Goods to place immense orders. This was universally the case, so much so that, perhaps without exaggeration, 50 per cent. more goods were imported than the country could possibly consume. As a consequence, there has been a great break in prices in a great many fabrics, which we shall fully meet.

ing a passenger train on the Georgia Central railroad broke in half twelve miles from Macon. The steam brake stopped the rear half on a down grade.

A heavy freight train following telescoped the sleeper half way, killing the engineer. The president of the Central railroad, W. M. Wadley and the vice president, Mr. Raoul, were in the sleeping car but escaped through a window. Several of the passengers were hurt but none fatally.

A few minutes after the collision a second heavy freight train ran into the middle train, smashing the cars into fragment. Engineer Crosby of the middle train was with his hand on the lever which was reversed. He was jammed against the hot boiler by a freight ear, leaving over the tender and was disembowelled and roasted. The other engineers and firevaltes. from Macon. The steam brake stop-
